ACAMS Talk: Shining a Light on How Chinese Underground Banking Fuels Crime in the Caribbean

Big ideas, shorter sessions. That's an ACAMS Talk. Come for stimulating intellectual exploration; leave with plenty to think and talk about.

In their attempt to bypass capital controls, Chinese underground banking networks have become deeply embedded in global financial crime—including money laundering, corruption, and even fentanyl trafficking. This ACAMS Talk will explore how these illicit networks operate, their impact on financial institutions in the Caribbean, and what compliance professionals can do to detect and disrupt them.

Presenter:

Leland Lazarus, Former Associate Director of National Security Policy,
FIU Jack D. Gordon Institute for Public Policy

The More You Know: Fighting Fraud with Financial Education

In response to the rising threat of sophisticated scams such as social media romance scams and text message bank fraud, local authorities have prompted banks and regulators to enhance their public education initiatives. Join this session for a deep dive into Cayman's push to empower consumers with financial literacy, making them better equipped to identify and avoid fraud risks. Our seasoned experts will discuss efforts among Cayman's law enforcement, regulatory bodies and financial institutions – such as CIMA's "I Learned the Hard Way" campaign – which aim to foster a culture of awareness and informed decision-making among the public.
